The Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies is one of the world's leading centres of teaching and research focusing on international relations and development issues. The Graduate Institute has a long-standing reputation of excellence and is home to a diverse and vibrant group of students and faculty from all over the world. Being situated in Geneva, a hub of multilateral diplomacy, the Graduate Institute provides its students with job and internship opportunities in the many IOs and NGOs that are neighbouring it, including the WTO, UNHCR, WIPO, ILO, ICRC, UNEP, UNDP, WHO, Amnesty International and many more.

The Graduate Institute counts amongst its alumni Kofi Annan (former UN secretary general), Hans-Gert Pöttering (former President of the European Parliament), Hernando de Soto (President of Peru's Institute for Liberty and Democracy), Nobuyuki Idei (former Chairman of Sony Corporation), Saul Friedlander (2008 Pulitzer Prize recipient), as well as the current foreign ministers of Switzerland, Micheline Calmy-Rey, and Mexico, Patricia Espinosa. An important number of scholarships is awarded to the Institute's Master and PhD students every year according to the criteria of merit and financial need. Applications for Swiss students is now open and will close on January 15th 2012.
